

Participation in Saudi and International Volunteer Day

As part of the university's initiatives to promote volunteerism, the College of Dentistry actively participated in Saudi and International Volunteer Day, held on December 9-10, 2024. The event aimed to highlight the importance of community service in dental health and included a variety of outreach activities.

Event Overview:

The College of Dentistry contributed to the university's volunteer activities by setting up an educational booth, dental screening services, and a mobile clinic. These initiatives aimed to spread oral health awareness and provide preliminary dental check-ups to the community.

Organizing Entities:

The event was led by the College of Dentistry, represented by:

- The Community Service Committee
- The Internship Committee
- The Alumni Unit

Participants and Engagement:

- Around 30 volunteers, including senior-level students, dental interns, and graduates from the College of Dentistry, participated in the event.
- The initiative provided an opportunity for hands-on experience in community service and patient interaction.

Event Highlights:

- Free dental screening and check-ups for the public.
- Awareness sessions on preventive dental care.
- Distribution of oral hygiene kits and educational materials.
- Operation of a mobile dental clinic to reach underserved areas.
